Alpha Phi Omega Presents College With Directory

Visitors to the campus will now easily find officials and offices of the College.

The Alpha Phi Omega, a service fraternity, has presented to the College an Administration building directory. The presentation was made by Richard Willis at the beginning of the assembly, Wednesday, March 4.

Dr. J. W. Jones, president, accepted the directory for the College. The directory will probably be placed on the first floor of the Administration building.

Officers of Alpha Phi Omega are as follows: Richard Willis, president; Harold Grout, vice-president; Hubert Sharp, recording secretary; John Jensen, corresponding secretary; Richard Miller, treasurer.

English, Speech Teachers Outline District Meeting

Tentative plans are being made for a district meeting of speech and English instructors in Northwest Missouri on Friday, March 27.

Mr. Nels H. Haven, chairman of the English and Speech Section of Northwest Missouri Teachers Association, will be in charge at the meeting which is to be held in the lounge of the Union.

One o'clock until four o'clock is designed as the time of the meeting with a coffee hour at four o'clock. Miss Estella Bowman will be in charge at the coffee hour.

Mr. Haven is the speech and English instructor at Maysville High School.

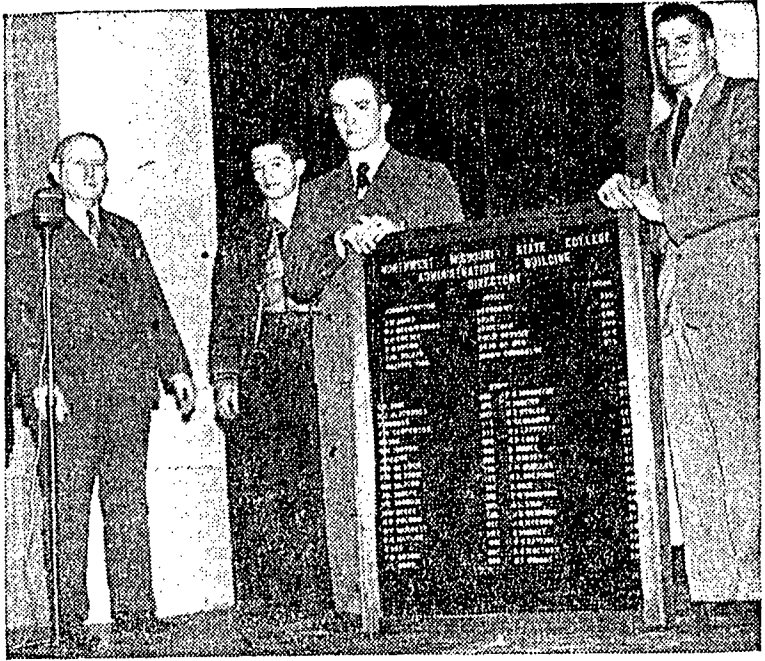

Miss Ross Attends ACE Plan Meeting

Miss Neva Ross, Missouri State president of the Association for Childhood Education, spent the week end of February 28 at St. Louis. This was a plan meeting for the annual A.C.E. state conference which will be held in St. Louis May 2-3.

Dr. Dorothy Walter Baruch of Beverly Hills, California, who is a teacher, psychologist and author, will be the guest speaker. Her lectures will discuss "Education of the Emotions."

While in St. Louis Miss Ross was a guest of Mrs. Marie Price Hull, a former faculty member.

Service Fraternity Gives Directory

Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity on the campus, presented a directory of the Administration building to the College at the morning assembly, Wednesday, March 4.

Students Direct

Attention to Moulages in Art

To prove that the students of NWMSC do have originality and imagination, one has only to consider the exhibit in the glass case on the second floor of the Administration Building.

The pictures, called "moulages" or "collages," are the result of an assignment Miss Olive DeLuce, chairman of the fine arts department, gave to the members of her Introduction to Art, Fine Arts 11 class.

Comes From Cubism

The word "moulage," or "collage," comes from a development of "cubism" which was initiated into the art world at the end of the nineteenth century. This type of work stresses texture contrast as a prominent device. Pablo Picasso and George Braque ushered this new type of modern painting into the American art world.

Miss DeLuce asked her students to sketch an entirely original picture and then use their own creativeness to develop realistic characteristics. A hurried glance at the pictures in the case will not suffice. In fact, several hours could be spent in attempting to translate the idea of Joe Sicksel's "English Theme." The materials in this abstract drawing range from coarse corn shucks to filmy hair nets.

Moon Is Made of Cheese

Evelyn Donaldson left no doubt that the moon was made of cheese. In addition to the real cheese (American or Velveeta) she also used orange rind for the hoofs and horns of the bull in her drawing. Shredded wheat serves as straw in the pen.

Shirley Miller gave her picture the name of "Wayside Path." This scene has green rick rack for flower stems and white navy beans for the flower petals. Clouds made of fluffy white cotton set off this drawing.

Her Dog Donated Hairs

Sacrifice and suffering are evident in the production of these pictures, as evidenced by Betty Teaford. Her dog donated countless hairs to make her depiction of a dog realistic.

An unusual feature of Marica Dick's picture was a pirouetting ballerina made of spiral wood shavings.

Materials Are Unusual

Many other interesting and unusual materials such as terry cloth, velvet, pipe cleaners, buttons, and paper dollies were used to complete

Burr Shafer Comes To College Campus For April Assembly

Burr Shafer, nationally known cartoonist, will appear on the regular College assembly program, April 1. Mr. Shafer draws the cartoon, "Through History with J. Wesley Smith," for the "Saturday Review."

After the assembly program, Mr. Shafer will speak to the art classes at 11 a.m.

A luncheon in his honor is being given in the Union Building at noon, Wednesday, April 1. Anyone who is interested in attending should get in touch with either Miss Olive DeLuce, art instructor, or Jackie Donaldson, president of art club.

MR. GARRETT IMPROVED

Mr. W. T. Garrett, chairman of the biology department who became seriously ill March 11, has been hospitalized at the St. Francis Hospital. He is at the time recovering, but still does not receive visitors.

Mr. Garrett is expected to return to his classes on March 23.

Schedule Change

In order to give the proper balance in teaching days this semester between two and three-hour courses, the normal teaching schedule for Friday classes will be followed on Thursday, April 2.

The result will be forty-eight lecture recitation hours for three-hour courses, and thirty-two recitation hours for two-hour courses.

Otherwise the result would be forty-seven and thirty-three.

Stanley Kimes, Basso, Will Entertain at College Assembly

Young American Basso Has Had Major Roles With Florence Opera Company and Pomeriggi Musicali

Stanley Kimes, young American operatic basso, will present an assembly program in the College auditorium Friday, March 20, at 10:00 a.m.

Mr. Kimes has won many awards for his outstanding singing throughout America and Europe. He placed first in solo work in the National High School Vocal Contest and was judged the best young singer in the entire country.

He earned a scholarship to study music at the James Milliken University in Decatur, Illinois. His college career was interrupted by three years' service in the Army Air Force, but upon his release he returned and was graduated in 1947.

Received Fellowship

Following graduation he was awarded the Cape Neal Kinley Fellowship which was open to everyone in the field of fine arts. This recognition permitted him to continue concentrated study in his singing career. At this same time he was awarded the John Hancock Fellowship by Koussevitzky. This fellowship included a complete season in Opera Theater at the Berkshire Center in Tanglewood under the professional tutelage of Boris Goldovsky.

Mr. Kimes received his first experience in opera in the Juilliard Opera Theater where he completed his work for his Master's Degree in opera and voice in 1950. Again his work was rewarded, for he received a Fulbright Fellowship for a year's study abroad at the Giuseppe Verdi Conservatory in Milan. Unusual as it was for a student, he was asked to sing with the Rome Philharmonic.

Had Major Roles

Other engagements followed. He had major roles with the Florence Opera Company, the Pomeriggi Musicali, and the National Italian Radio. While in Europe, Mr. Kimes also went to France, Switzerland, Germany, Vienna, and England.

In the United States he has been featured soloist with the Little Orchestra Society, the Westminster Choir in New York Town Hall, the Brooklyn Academy, in Carnegie Hall with the New York Philharmonic Schola Cantorum, and Sylvan Levin Opera Concerts over the Mutual Broadcasting System. Current engagements include singing the sacred cantata in Vivaldi's "Judith" as well as guest soloist with the Norfolk Symphony.

Assists With "Mirror"

Bob Andrews is assisting with the Horace Mann "Mirror," the laboratory school newspaper, this semester.

District Agriculture Contest Is Slated for Campus in April

Mr. R. T. Wright Will Direct Two-Day Event; Rules Used Will Follow State Contest Pattern

Agriculture students in the high schools of Northwest Missouri will compete in a two-day series of contests on the College campus, April 17-18. The events listed on the program will comprise the 1953 district contest and winners will be certified for competition in the state contest.

Mr. R. T. Wright, head of the College department of agriculture, is the director of the contests at this site. In the contests bulletin, he has announced that all rules and regulations will be the same as for the state contests.

Contests Begin April 17

Contests get underway at 9 a.m., April 17, with parliamentary procedure events scheduled in the auditorium and field crops in room 222 of the Administration building. Radio skills will be presented.

Afternoon contests for April 17 include dairy production, farm mechanics, and public speaking at 1 p.m. Entrants in public speaking contests must have three copies of their speeches in the hands of the director one week prior to the contest.

Judging Is on Saturday

Saturday's lineup of events begins with livestock judging at 8 a.m. in room 224 and is followed by poultry production at 9 a.m. in room 221. The contests will end with the dairy products judging at 1 p.m., Saturday afternoon, April 18.

As nearly as is possible the pattern for the contests will be that used in the state events.

Forty-five Students Make High Grades First Semester

Honor students for the first semester have been announced by Dr. W. A. Brandenburg, dean of the faculty. Of the forty-five listed, there are twenty-one seniors, five juniors, eight sophomores, eight freshmen, two night students, and one post graduate student.

Three seniors, Frank Babb, Ricardo Lopez, and Dora Wagner; one junior, Cyril Dougherty; one sophomore, Adraln Weigart; one freshman, Velma Carey; and a post graduate student, Herschel Colbert, had straight E averages for the semester.

To be listed on the honor roll, a student must have a .75 average, with an E counting three points and an S counting two. In marking terms a student must have as many semester hours of E's as he does S's.

Board of Regents Approves Plan To Honor Service in Korean War

Members of the Board of Regents have approved a suggestion from the Student Senate that a plaque be erected in honor of NWMSC students who served in the Korean conflict.

In a meeting held recently in the Union, the senators made plans to purchase a plywood plaque four by eight feet which should cost approximately $12 plus the cost of engraving.

Herschel Nell, president of the Senate, reported that the College will make visits to high schools within the NWMSC area to solicit new students. One trip will be made each week by various members of the faculty. Any student who is interested in accompanying the faculty members should contact Mr. Everett Brown of the Field Service

Mr. Ralph Fulsom Directs All-College Cast in Comedy

First Performance Is Set for Tuesday Night; Production Will Be Repeated Twice, Wednesday

Next week three performances of "Harvey," the sprightly comedy by Mary Chase, will be presented on the stage of the College auditorium by the speech and dramatics department under the direction of Mr. Ralph E. Fulsom.

Special lighting and make-up, two sets of scenery, and an all-college cast combine to make the production one of the most interesting to be presented on the campus. The cast has been in rehearsal since the opening of the second semester.

Open Tuesday Night

On Tuesday night, March 24, the first performance will be given and is open to the public. The student body will see the play on Wednesday at the regular assembly hour. That afternoon the performance will be repeated for the visiting high schools of northwest Missouri.

Eddie Woltz, an elementary major from St. Joseph, portrays Elwood P. Dowd, a dipsomaniac, who has discovered the great white rabbit, "Harvey." His sister, Veta Louise Simmons, is played by Opal Carson, a senior English major from Bagleyville. Last season Eddie played the title role in "Noah" and last semester Opal was in the cast of "Antigone."

Hackett Is Dr. Chumley

Harley Hackett, a senior English major from Dearborn, is cast in the role of Dr. Chumley of Chumley's Rest. His assistants at the sanitarium include Dr. Lyman Sanderson, played by Frank Babb, Duane Wilson, played by Bob Wilson; and Ruth Kelly, R. N., played by Carla Haylett. All four of these students were members of the cast of "Antigone."

Two romances run through the plot, that of Duane Wilson and the man-crazy Myrtle Mae Simmons, played by Jackie Donaldson, and that of Dr. Sanderson and Miss Kelly.

Had Lead in "Family Portrait"

Helen Twaddle, who had the lead in theater-in-the-round production of "Family Portrait" last semester, plays Mrs. Eugene Chauvenet, a society leader.

Ruth Adams, a freshman speech major from Corning, Iowa, will be appearing in her first college production in the role of Mrs. Chumley. She replaced Madolyn Craig three weeks ago when the latter withdrew from school. Joyce Osborn, who plays the maid, and John Lee Thompson, who plays Judge Omar Gaffney, are also making their first appearance in a college production, although both participated in the speech department's share of the Christmas assembly.

Plays Taxi-Driver

Jack Turner completes the cast of "Harvey" in his role of the taxi-driver, Lofgren.

Richard Oakerson is stage manager for the production and will be assisted by the speech majors and minors of the College. These include Norma Duffy, Lynn Adams, Bob Andrews, and Walt Hopkins. Scenery for the production was done by Helen Twaddle, John Lee Thompson, Bob Wilson, Jean Lieneemann, and Mary Jane Carlson. Mr. Robert Gee of the speech department has been a technical assistant for the production.

Former Student Writes Grade School Operetta

Norman Clouse, former student at Northwest Missouri State College, and his wife, Mrs. Ruth Clouse, have written an operetta "Good Ship S.S. United," which was presented March 6 by the grade school pupils of the Rock Port high school. The operetta deals with the United Nations.

Governor Donnelly Appoints Three To Board of Regents

Mr. Harold M. Hull, Maryville attorney and son of Judge and Mrs. M. J. Hull, has been appointed a member of the Board of Regents of the College by Governor Phil M. Donnelly.

Judge M. E. Ford, also of Maryville, was reappointed a member to the Board.

Mr. H. F. Simrall, Liberty, was named to the third vacancy on the Board to replace Mr. Alan E. Wherritt, who resigned.

All three nominations require confirmation by the Missouri Senate.

Harold M. Hull

Mr. Hull, who follows Mr. A. B. Kammerer of Chillicothe, is a graduate of the College and of the University of Missouri. He has been practicing law in Maryville for five years.

He now holds the post of city attorney and in the past served as assistant prosecuting attorney. He is probably the youngest man to be appointed to the Board and is believed to be the first who is a graduate of the school.

Ag Department Enters Team in Oklahoma Event

The agriculture department sent a livestock judging team to the inter-collegiate livestock judging contests held at Oklahoma City on Saturday, March 14. The team is composed of Marvin Bowman, Robert Stevenson, Raymond Butt, Charles Brown, Max Miller, and Marlan Tiemann.

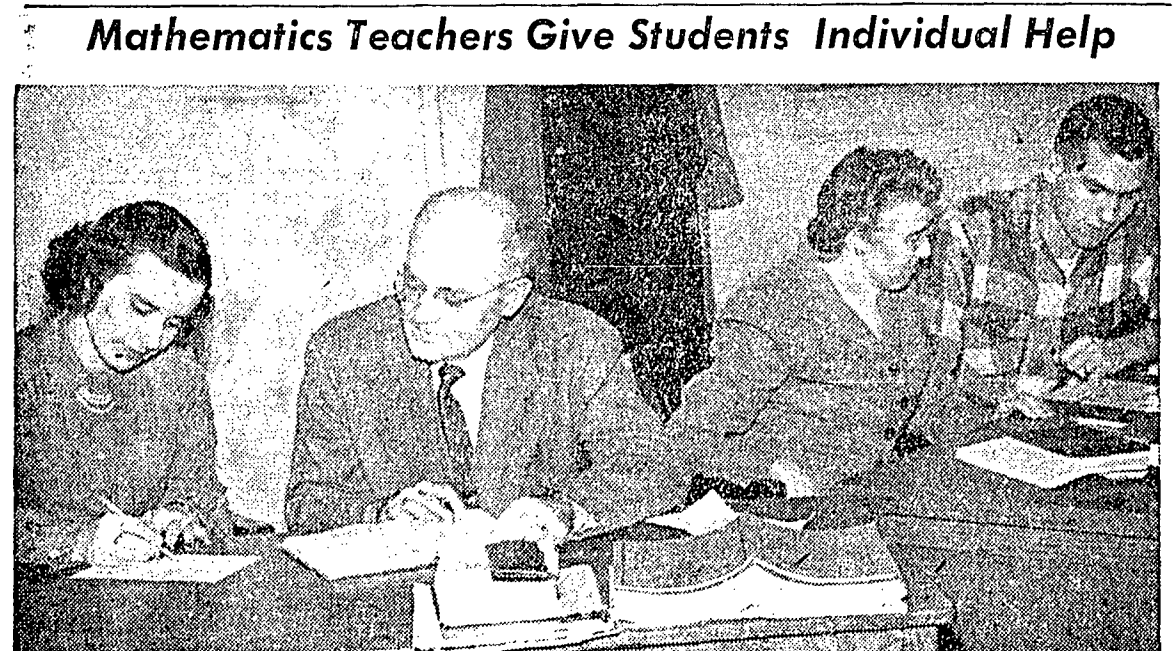

Livestock classes in beef cattle, sheep, hogs, and quarter horses were judged. In addition to placing each class, team members were scored on oral reasons to why they placed the classes as they did. The group, accompanied by Mr. F. B. Houghton, left Maryville Friday morning and returned Sunday.

The judging contest is an annual inter-collegiate affair held in Oklahoma City and sponsored by the Oklahoma Chain Stores Association.

Last year teams were entered from the following colleges: Kansas State, Texas Tech., Mississippi State, Texas A. & M., Oklahoma A. & M., Cameron State Agricultural College, Eastern Oklahoma A. & M., Lamar Junior College, Murray State Agricultural College, and Northwestern Oklahoma A. & M.

Accepts Nebraska Post

Irwin Thomas, former student of the College, has accepted a position as superintendent of schools at Nemaha, Nebraska, for next year. Mr. Thomas, who is teaching science in the Rock Port high school this year, will receive his Master's degree this summer from Kirksville.

Helping their students over whatever difficulties that they may have in understanding or working problems is one of the practices of the mathematics department. Here Mr. William A. Lafferty, acting chairman of the department, assists mathematics major, Marilyn Litton, with a problem. At the other desk, John Swift is getting help from Miss Vida E. Dunbar, of the mathematics department.

Mathematics Department Offers Profitable Course to Students

By MELVA HEITS

"I feel that many who would profit by courses in mathematics do not take them, the reason being that they found it possible to graduate from high school with nothing more than general mathematics," states Mr. William A. Lafferty, acting chairman of the mathematics department, of Northwest Missouri State College. In other words Mr. Lafferty feels that if people did not avoid mathematics so diligently that they might develop a taste for the subject.

One of the objectives of the mathematics department is to reflect the changes that have occurred in the subject in the last thirty or forty years. This objective is really a desirable one since it is too easy to keep teaching mathematics the way it has been taught for so long.

Stresses Individual Help At NWMSC the mathematics department stresses individual help in so far as possible for students who need it. This procedure enables those who are having difficulty to master the principles and thus keep up with the others in the class.

The number and the kind of courses offered here compare favorably with those of colleges of this size. Courses from intermediate algebra to vector analysis are offered. Some of the more advanced courses are calculus, whose use of mathematics will be casual.

A new interest in mathematics is now being shown by the students, as evidenced by the rise in enrollment of Mathematics majors after the drop that came after most of the veterans of World War II were graduated.

Boys Outnumber Girls

Mr. Lafferty feels that the reason so many more boys major in mathematics than girls is accounted for by the fact that the several fields in engineering offer more glamour for boys. Girls, who sometime in their life plan to be homemakers, major in fields where the courses offered will help them in bringing up children and making a home. There are many girls who have majored in mathematics, though, and made a place for themselves in the world of today.

Many students who major or minor in mathematics have as related fields physical sciences, biological sciences, and business.

Miss Vida E. Dunbar, who also teaches mathematics classes at the College, and Mr. Leonard Levy, supervising teacher of science and mathematics at Horace Mann Laboratory School, are other members of the college mathematics department.

Mr. F. B. Houghton, instructor, explains the rules in judging pigs to the agriculture department's judging team prior to their departure for the Oklahoma City contests. Back row, left to right, are Marlan Tiemann, Marvin Bowman, Bob Stevenson, Raymond Butt, and Mr. Houghton. Seated are Max Miller and Charles Brown.

Should Future Teachers Vote?

This past year I have spent some time at the election polls of our campus each election day. It is discouraging to see what a small per cent of the student body votes. Many times, less than half of the students care enough or take the time to vote.

We all will be voting citizens of our country in a few years. We can start training for this duty in college by casting our votes to elect our own student governing body. When we become twenty-one, we will be amateurs in the voting field. It seems only natural that we should take advantage of any available training for this important privilege of citizenship. In school elections we have a chance to know the candidates personally and judge their qualifications of personal leadership along with their qualifications in ability, to carry out the duties of an office. In our national elections, we can only go on the qualifications given by the candidate, himself. If we learn in college to evaluate how important ability is, in relation to personal qualities, it will aid us in our decisions on the national level.

Many of us are training to be teachers. As teachers, we expect to teach good citizenship in all our classes. How much value do you think our students would put on our teaching if they were to discover that we didn't practice what we preach, that we didn't bother to be good citizens of our college? It is my hope that the students of this college will sometime realize, to be good citizens of our country you must be a good citizen of every organization with which you are connected. To be a good citizen of one's college, one must exercise his voting privilege.

Something Is at Stake

Next week end high school students from Northwest Missouri will come to the campus for the annual series of spring contests in speech and music. For many of these students it will mean returning to participate in an event that is important in their school life; but for others it will be a first exposure to college life.

There is a reputation to maintain—a reputation that has come to be a tradition—for hospitality and friendliness toward these contestants. This slight extra expenditure of energy is an investment in the future and one that is destined to snowball as the years pass. We are playing host to the best Northwest Missouri has to offer. Perhaps someday they shall be students of Northwest Missouri State College.

Remember—the memories they take home with them may be the factor that affects their choice of a college when the time comes.

—Bob Andrews

Be Dependable!

"Is he dependable? I want a responsible person for this job."

These comments and others similar to them frequently are heard in everyday conversations. When people have a job to be done, they certainly do not want a person who will not carry it through—one who might start the task, then not finish it, or one who might finish it, but in a hurried, slipshod manner at the last minute.

It is much easier just "to mess around" for a time instead of working on assignments and other duties, a sense of responsibility, which is important for getting along in this competitive world, is often lacking in us.

People always need and want those on whom they can depend. If we would cultivate the ability to follow through now, I think it will be valuable later on and will give us a greater chance for success, regardless of what field we have chosen for our vocation.

Moseley Presents Movie and Lecture Of European Trip

A travelogue of European countries was shown by Mr. James G. Moseley, lecturer, in an assembly at the College recently.

According to Mr. Moseley, the United States is foolish to try to save Europe for a strictly selfish reason.

"The Netherlands occupied the most during the German occupation, and, although they received very little aid from the U. S., they have made the quickest recovery," said Mr. Moseley.

In France, one finds the people to be a gay, carefree group. "The French have a strange attitude toward war—they were better off under Hitler than they are now. They consider the American aid to be an occupation; under the Russian occupation, they will go on slipping wine in their sidewalk cafes as they always have," said Moseley. Views of England, the Riviera, Italy, Switzerland and Germany were also shown.

Color Harmony Is Evident In Faculty Lounge

Members of the faculty find that their new lounge is a harmony of colors. Ginger, a brown, and avocado, light green, comprise the major portion of the furniture. Blended with these two colors are gold, yellow, green, and citron, a rose color.

Furniture in the lounge consists of passenger sofas, lounge chairs, occasional chairs, end tables, a card table, and lamps.

Once again harmony is predominant as four of the lamps are brass chases with green shades while the others are ebony and brass with natural shades.

Completing the color scheme is the green rug.

James Hill Reviews Regional Art Meeting

James Hill, art instructor at Cameron and former student of the College, has an article in the February-March issue of "Show-Me Art." The article entitled "Art Experiences Are Educational" is a review of the recent Northwest Missouri Regional Fine Arts meeting, which was held at Cameron.

Featured in the article are photographs taken at the meeting. One of these is of the Osborn High School exhibit. Lora Lockhart, who plans to get her degree this summer from the College, is art instructor there.

Leaders of the meeting were Miss Olive DeLuce, head of the College art department; Dr. J. B. Smith, dean of the Kansas City Art Institute; Mr. William R. McCloskey, Hallmark greeting card representative; and Mr. Hill.

Campus Extra

BY LOIS KEMPER

The sudden spurt of dances has come to a moderate sandhill on most college campuses—spring formal in a cou weeks. Therefore, most of the college crowd will take this opportunity to open the stiff, crackling pages of their new text books and head toward the library.

Park College, Parkville, is offering a $500 scholarship to a student who can recite the 107 answers of the Westminster Shorter Catechism within his first year at college. There won't be any goofing off about studying on this deal.

Forty-nine members of the Kirksville band are preparing for a big concert tour. Just ask NWMSC band members about the tour they took for comments that make good listening.

This bit of wit was found in the Southwest Standard, Springfield: "Was her father surprised when you said you wanted to marry her?" "Surprised—why the gun nearly fell out of his hands."

So far 140 schools have accepted the invitation to High School Day at Missouri Valley, Marshall. Many high school students will soon be on our campus for spring contests; let's show them a good time.

Bobbie Helm writes in the Ball State News, Muncie, Indiana, that ladies' pajamas of today are more daring than grandma's flannels. Every statement was within reason, but do grown girls actually wear P.J.'s with a drop seat, and bottle feet?

Another item that hit an interested eye was the organization of a girls' rifle team at Ball State. The fellows must really have it rough, huh!

A female firing squad just about blows this article to the finale. Gosh! What frustrating accounts can be found within the black print of a newspaper.

Securing a Position Is Mr. Brown's Topic

Mr. Everett Brown, director of field service for the College, spoke at the education department seminar at Horace Mann, February 28. "Suggestions for Securing a Position" was the general theme of the address. Mr. Brown enumerated the services offered by the College Placement Bureau and gave the step-by-step outline necessary for the students to avail themselves of these services.

Additional explanation of the various requirements for teachers was given, as well as information on applicants, references, and interviews.

Dr. Sterling Surrey Reviews

"The Big Change" by F. L. Allen

Admittedly, this reviewer is prejudiced. Frederick Lewis Allen is my favorite informal historian. His non-fiction, novel-like chronicles of our times are fascinating, exciting reading. His graphic portrayals of our changing social, political and economic world should be required reading for all college students.

Mr. Allen's first book ONLY YESTERDAY described the decade of the nineteen twenties. It was followed by SINCE YESTERDAY, an account of America in the nineteen thirties. And now, another best seller (according to the New York Times Book Section) THE BIG CHANGE is an interpretation of the changes of the American way of life since 1900.

Mr. Allen is eminently fair. He has no personal axe to grind for or against our way of life. In lieu thereof, he presents all viewpoints and allows the reader to make his own decision. In the work under review the author suggests that the "big change" has been more than a narrowing of the gap between the rich and poor; rather, he infers, it has been a fast closing of the gap between all their ways of living. He examines the possibility that this closing may have resulted in mass second-rate education, culture and thinking, but he also suggests that an increasing number of people previously alien to art, literature and culture in general are now aware of and interested in these areas once relegated and available to the select few.

Mr. Allen does not believe that we are on the road to socialism. Indeed, he declares we have gone beyond socialism and have demonstrated that mass production and, more important, mass consumption have raised the standards of living of all people in the nation. This change has not come about smoothly, but through a series of crises. First, the corporate change from the individualistic capitalist to the management control concept of corporate enterprise. Second, Government regulation, not for the sake of control by the politicians, but because of the need to carry out our democratic ideals for all the people. Finally, our change from an ostrich-like isolationism to World leadership (of which we are presently quite afraid). To arrive at the point where we are today, however, we have had to experience wars, fictitious prosperity, real and deadening depression, and, always, fear.

This fear is human, justified in view of the dynamic nature of our country and of the world. Mr. Allen recognizes that many of us would like to live in a static state, but change is constantly about us—and change we must. To illustrate, the author cites the very real threat of communism. In our fear we permit men of the ilk of McCarthy, and other inquisitors to frighten us into "nervous conformity." He concludes that "at many a point in our American life adventurous and constructive thought is stifled by apprehension" and "we are by nature a sanguine people, but never before have we been subjected to the sort of prolonged strain that we feel today and our patience, humor and courage are being sorely tested."

This review concerns that we are amazing people—we stumble forward while looking backward. Could we but turn around and face issues squarely, honestly, and fearlessly, the "good old days" would be the tomorrows and not the yesterdays.

—Sterling Surrey.

Dietetics Class Conducts Better Breakfast Survey

By SUE HOOD

Are the students on this campus eating an adequate breakfast each morning? That question prompted the recent survey conducted by the home economics students enrolled in the dietetics class.

Girls living in Residence Hall, in homes, in towns, and those living with their parents were questioned and their answers indicated a definite need for a "better breakfast" campaign. Reasons given by the students for not eating breakfast were varied but not nutritional valid.

Revealed by the survey is the fact that 51% of the coeds interviewed do not eat breakfast regularly. Belief that sleep is more beneficial loomed as the largest factor for not eating. Another sizeable group listed "not hungry" and "not enough time" as the reason for breakfast skipping.

From the nutritional standpoint only 32% of the group consumed a good to excellent breakfast. Fruit in some form, a breakfast, butter or margarine, and either milk or coffee emerged as the general breakfast pattern of the students queried.

Underweight appears to be a common problem. Of the 130 girls used in the survey, 49 per cent were under the weights recommended for optimum health. Exhibits and posters will be displayed on the campus to promote the campaign. Members of the class participating in the better breakfast campaign are Lucille Steinhauer, Sue Hood, Beverly Haines, Carole Miller, Joan Kowitz, and Mildred Maxon. Dr. June Cozine is the instructor of the class.

Accompanying the group were Mr. Howard Ringold, Mr. Kenneth T. Thompson, and Mr. Donald N. Valk.

Students making the trip were Joe Noelsch, Eddie Carlson, Joyce Brown, Marjorie Goughly, Harold Groat, Viron Bender, Harold Straight, Vernon Roberts, Daryl McClure, Bob McCartney, Eldon Patterson, Carol Hansen, Max Nelson, Clyde Hulet, Roger Carson, Kenneth Ackley, Raymond Butt, Ronnie Wray, Marlan Tiesmann, Don Schenkel, George Atchison, J. Editor's Lament

Getting out a newspaper is no picnic. If we print jokes, people say we are silly. If we don't, they say we are too serious. If we stick to the office all day, we ought to be hunting material. If we go out and try to hustle, we ought to be on the job in the office. If we don't print contributions, we don't appreciate genius. If we do the paper is filled with junk!

If we edit the other fellow's write-up, we are too critical. If we don't, we're asleep on the job. If we clip things from other papers, we are too lazy to write them ourselves. If we don't, we are stuck on our own stuff!

Now like as not some guy will say we swiped this from another newspaper, and we did. We swiped it from the SPRINGFIELD STANDARD, who swiped it from the UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS CITY NEWS, who swiped it from the UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI HURRICANE, who swiped it from the UNIVERSITY OF HOUSTON COUGAR, who swiped it from the DAILY TEXAN, who swiped it from the SMU CAMPUS, who swiped it from the TEXAS A & M BATTALION, who swiped it from heaven knows who else!

Sigma Tau Gamma Special!

By LEE AND LEO

Well, here we are again! Yes, we are back again to tell you all about the rest of the senior members of our fraternity, but first let's congratulate Dick Buckridge on his becoming engaged to Miss "Marty" Ingles. George Haws also invested in a ring and presented it to Miss Joyce Baker, and last but not least Brother Bill Corkin, who is not too far behind George and Dick, upon his pinning Miss Jean Long. Wow! Are the girls going fast. It looks as if we will never get to pin anyone if matters keep progressing at this rate.

The Taus entertained the Deltas and the Tri Sigmas over in Quad 5 Wednesday night, March 4. There was dancing. We were sort of outnumbered but we loved it, and cokes were passed around and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves. We also noticed that some of the girls were carrying around cigars; we were curious, but we imagine they were saving them for later. We bet some of those gals wish they never had picked up those cigars, if they did proceed to smoke them. How were your tummies afterwards, girls?

Now comes the part of the article that we enjoy the most, that is looking into the lives of some of our senior members. First let's talk about our all-conference basketball player, "Dicke Dean" Buckridge. We'd like to congratulate "Dicke" on his receiving of the "sportsmanship award," a beautiful Elgin wrist watch. Dick's parents were at the banquet to see him receive the award. Did everyone see Richard's picture in the Maryville Daily Forum? Malenkov occupied the same space the night before and Stalin, two nights before. This really doesn't have any bearing on anything, but we just thought we'd mention it.

Next we take a peek at V. C. (Sonny) Asmus. We call him V. C. because if we said Vernon Clarence he might not like it, so instead of calling him Vernon Clarence we'll stick to V. C. or Sonny. This Manning, Iowa, product seems always to have his finger in the pie, or in something—that has to do with organizational work on campus. Sonny is our pledge master and does a fine job of keeping the pledge class in good functioning order. Any Wednesday night, if you listen closely you can hear a far off call of Marlene Cadence, as Sonny marches the pledges from our fraternity house to the actives' meeting place in the Lakeview Room of the Student Union.

Flash! Another good Tau is scheduled to bite the dust with the onset of the month of April. Yes, we're talking about none other than Rex Plummer, a star of the B & W Sporting Goods basketball team, well, at least, he gets to play. Poor "Rex" has decided to exchange vows with Miss Betty Williams, and at the present time he seems quite happy, but where will he be able to get comic books to read after his marriage? Yes, "Plum", old pal, we will miss your disturbing presence here at the Quads, but anytime you can slip away, come up and we will do our best to dig up some "Horror Comics" for you.

Well, well, well, look who just came back from K. C., Mo.; it is none other than Paul "Fresh Kid" Tobin. We inquired as to his whereabouts and the reply went something like this: "Put your hand in your pocket man, I haven't got time to shake your hand, for I must go to town to see a man," and Paul was gone again. From what we have observed, his frequent journeys have been more than worth his while.

We are offering a reward of 50 pounds of jelly beans to anyone who can find a speck of dirt in, on, or under Johnny "Hal" England-Plymouth. On a muddy campus such as we have here, John must really keep on the ball at all times to keep those white sidewalls spotless. We heard the other day that John is thinking seriously of adopting an old Japanese custom, in which everyone must take off his shoes before entering his car.

J. C. "Daddy" Hall, a very lively lad at the Tau meetings, has turned vocalist on us and is constantly practicing the latest crooner styles so that some day he may be able to crash into the entertainment world. Did we say crush? It will probably be the most powerful blow show business has ever had. J. C. has consented to perform for anyone who desires good, but cheap entertainment. We would like to put a plug in here for J. C. and say that his entertainment is good and cheap.

Next from Stockton, California, we have a tall, skinny character with a nose that is out of this world. What other living mortal could fill this description besides our own G. P. "Cantiflas" Coulter? We imagine that when and if George ever gets his full growth, he should be quite a good sized kid. But remember that he is a growing lad, and we shouldn't push him. Yes this kid should go far if he can utilize his physical appearance such as Bob Hope has done, but stay in there Cyranos; we're with you.

In closing we should like to leave you with this thought for the day. "Never enumerate the number of juvenile poultry until the period of incubation has fully materialized."

Phi Sig Review

by Max & Stan

Three of the Collegians made the first team in the annual Phi Sig-Sig Tau cage tilt. They are: "Husky" Al Spies, "Waxy" Curt Gaffney and "Fiddlin'" Charley Watson. Rounding out the first five is "Tall and Mighty" Yungschlager and "Ivories" Montgomery. These fellows have been holding Saturday evening work-outs on Nye's floor.

We had quite an array of cowboys and cowgirls at the Western dance held for new pledges. To name a few—Two-Gun White and Dry-Gulch Groom; Dude Neil and Anne "Oakley" Crain; Gilt-Along Hascall and "Trigger-Joy" White; Power-Face Holmes and Royal Flush Murrell; and Outhouse Harry. Everyone enjoyed the assault and battery set to music.

Two Phi Sigs, Max Miller and Bob Stevenson, made the Ag Club judging team. They will go to Oklahoma City to judge cattle—and that's no bull.

T. V. Hascall came back from last week-end with a new green Chevy and a "butch" haircut. Watch out girls!

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Summa were charivariied Tuesday night by his fraternity brothers. What some of those brothers wouldn't do for you—right, Bill?

Attention! All who are interested in the latest plumbing, see Billy Baber. He's made quite an extensive research. Nuff said.

Flash! Phi Sigs Frolics coming soon. A great Minstrel Show—Watch for it.

Intramural Commission met with Dr. Peterson recently to set up the point schedule that a varsity athlete should receive from participation in a varsity sport, that will go toward his individual record and his group record.

Much consideration was given this because intramural and varsity sports each are part of the physical education program. With the idea of not minimizing or over-emphasizing either of these phases, the following point system was adopted:

Any student who stays out for varsity football all season shall receive 25 points. If he earns a letter in the sport, he will gain 45 additional points, making a total of 70 points.

For varsity basketball, 50 points are given if the student remains out all season, and an additional 25 points are given for a letter. This makes a total of 75 points that can be earned in varsity basketball.

Fifteen points are awarded to anyone staying out for track, plus 45 points for a letter. Sixty points, then, is the maximum number that can be picked up in this sport.

It is an even split in tennis, 15 and 15, making a total of 30 for the participant who wins a letter.

Golf rounds out the varsity sports program with eight points given for participation and seven for a letter.

Points considered in determining the scale were: difficulty in staying out for the sport, difficulty of lettering, conflicts with other intramural activities, number of contests with other schools, and how much time is spent in preparing for these contests.

A fine portion of the intramural program is the invaluable experience that the group leaders receive through handling the teams of the various groups. The leaders have the chance to lead their teams in a great variety of activities, thus receiving a well-rounded picture of a physical education program.

The State Indoor Track Meet will be held in Columbia, March 21. Several new trackmen have been able to work outside a bit; and we are sure they will make a fine showing in the meet.

Returning varsity letter winners are George Coulter, Paul Tobin, Hubert Sharp, and Jim Gillette. Some very promising freshman round out the squad.

If this weather stays on we have a feeling that there are going to be a few sore arms on the campus. Baseballs and softballs are beginning to fly around. And nobody is taking the screens off their windows.

Everyone is beginning to pick the Major League baseball team they think will win the pennant race this season. Since Herbie Ave is gone, the Chicago White Sox seem to be lagging behind; but there are enough baseball enthusiasts to make up the difference.

Bill Coker is already hunting up old golf balls in the Quad, getting shined up to be the first one to set forth on the course. Buckridge, are you going to let him do that?

Congratulations to Dick on his receiving the MIAA sportsmanship award, a beautiful Elgin watch.

Coach Ryland Milner and Bill Todd, made their annual caravan to Kansas City last week to see some of the N. A. I. A. basketball games. It's nice to see Bill, a very ardent follower of the Bearcats, back after his stay in Florida.

LET'S BACK THE BEARCATS ALL THE WAY!

Buckridge Repeats on All-Star Contingent Chosen by Coaches

Dick Buckridge, who led the Bearcat cage crew in scoring this season, was named to a forward position on the M.I.A.A. All-Conference basketball team last week for the second year.

Buckridge, a senior, finished among the conference leaders in scoring, although the Bearcats were a second division club in the final league standings. During his four-year career for the Green and White, he has been outstanding with his ball-handling, floor play, and accurate one hand shots.
